The Manufacture of Liquors and Preserves (Classic Reprint) J. De Brevans

France a book which by its scope, form and price would be within the reach of all, but nevertheless would be complete enough to give a true picture of the recent discoveries and the true state of the art in this important branch of our national industry. This want has been filled by The Manufacture of Liquors and Preserves. M. De Brevans, in writing the book, which we have the pleasure of presenting to the public, has accomplished a great service to manufacturers, chemists, etc. The first part comprises the study of liquors, that is to say, alcohol and natural liquors (brandy, rum, tafia). M. De Brevans says that there is rum which has never seen the Antilles and kirsch to which the cherry is a perfect stranger, both being spirituous mixtures made by mixing various chemicals and pharmaceutical products an art which our neighbors beyond the Rhine have fully mastered. In the second part the author studies artificial liquors, some pages being devoted to a description of the laboratory and plant of the distiller, including raw materials, alcohol, essences, spirits, tinctures, distilled waters, juices, sirups, etc., without forgetting the coloring matters.
(Typographical errors above are due to OCR software and don't occur in the book.)
