Botanists and anyone who works with fiber crafts (amateur or professional) will welcome this clear account of 48 plants from which natural dyes can be obtained, including elderberry, henna, indigo, madder, and saffron. Each plant is beautifully illustrated by Gretel Dalby-Quenet, a skilled botanical artist, in a full-page painting that also shows the dye colors the plant can yield. The book is unusual in that it combines considerable botanical and chemical information with hands-on practical advice on treating the plants to obtain the most characteristic colors.
