The European Computational Fluid Dynamics Conference and the European Conference on Numerical Methods in Engineering are major large scale events attracting the whole international community engaged in Computational Methods in Applied Sciences. The 146 papers, including many colour illustrations, in this two part volume cover topics such as: Numerical Methods: Finite difference, finite and boundary elements, volume methods; Spectral methods; Convergence acceleration methods: multigrid, pre-conditioning; Domain decomposition, zonal methods; Massively parallel and vector computing on new architectures; Mesh generation and adaptive grid refinement; Visualization techniques; Particle and microscopic simulation methods. Modelizations and Applications: Innovative algorithms for Euler and Navier-Stokes equations; Laminar and turbulent flows; Turbulence and transition modelization; Direct simulation of turbulence; Multiphase and reacting flows; Heat transfer and combustion; Free surface problems; Non-Newtonian fluids; Flow in porous media; Industrial applications for low to high speed internal and external flows. The volumes will prove a useful and dynamic tool for those wishing to increase their knowledge of Computational Methods in Applied Sciences, as well as providing a guide to recent literature in this rapidly expanding area.

James Mendoza:

Information is provisions for anyone to get better life, information today can get by anyone at everywhere. The information can be a information or any news even a huge concern. What people must be consider if those information which is from the former life are hard to be find than now's taking seriously which one is acceptable to believe or which one often the resource are convinced. If you find the unstable resource then you understand it as your main information you will see huge disadvantage for you. All those possibilities will not happen within you if you take Computational Fluid Dynamics '92: Proceedings of the First European Computational Fluid Dynamics Conference, 7-11 September 1992, Brussels, Belgium as your daily resource information.

Jess Cooke:
